

Prayers about Purpose and Comparison

God, please help _____ to glorify You in all (he/she) does. Let (his/her) actions be pleasing to You. Let (him/her) know that (he/she) is fearfully and wonderfully made....that (he/she) was created ON purpose FOR purpose. Help _____ see the beautiful and purposeful gifts You have given (him/her). Help (him/her) know that (his/her) personality, passions, experiences, circumstances, and even quirks and weaknesses can all be used by You for Your kingdom and glory.

God, please stir in _____ early on a love for the good works You created for (him/her) to step in. Provide opportunities for _____ to grow in the areas of calling and gifting that You have created in (him/her). Give (him/her) a desire to learn. Open doors to explore these areas and give (him/her) the courage to walk through those doors in boldness, knowing that You are the One who is in control. At the same time, God please close doors that need to be closed.

God, help _____ fan into flame the gifts you have given (him/her). Help (him/her) see the unique calling you have for (his/her) life. Please be (his/her) provision and give (him/her) a boldness to believe in You for the impossible. Help _____ to strive for things far outside of (his/her) abilities to rely on You and to get to see Your hand in all things.

God, help _____ to know that Your path is the one (he/she) needs to be on. To do nothing is to drift. Help _____ recognize the value of Your perfect path and plans. Help (him/her) be intentional about boundaries and staying on Your path for (his/her) life. And when (he/she) swerves and gets off track, quickly bring (him/her) back to You.

God, please help _____ fight the comparison battle that is so destructive. Help (him/her) choose to earnestly celebrate others, rather than envy them. Help _____ to be so rooted in who You are, who (he/she) is, and gratitude that (he/she) can fight the temptation to compare.

God, help _____ find joy, contentment, and satisfaction on (his/her) journey, rather than anxiety and envy over coveting the journey of others. Help (him/her) know that You are faithful, good, and a God of abundance. Help (him/her) rest in the goodness of Your plans.
